FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

National Water Award for PCWA's David Breninger

David A. Breninger, general manager of the Placer County Water Agency, has been named as recipient of the National Water Resources Association (NWRA) President's Award for 2011.

"David is very knowledgeable in matters related to water; he is an enthusiastic leader, and an absolute pleasure to work with," said NWRA President Wade Noble, who announced the award on Nov. 17 at the association's annual meeting in Tucson, AZ.

Breninger, who has served at PCWA's general manager for 20 years, has been very active in state and national water industry affairs. He is a longtime member of the NWRA Board of Directors, serves on the NWRA Executive Committee and is the Chairman of the association's Municipal Caucus.

Breninger is one of four California representatives to the NWRA on behalf of the Association of California Water Agencies. NWRA is a water industries federal advocacy organization that is comprised mainly of water leaders from across 17 western states.

Breninger said, "I appreciate the opportunity to be of service to my colleagues. I'm deeply honored and pleased to be recognized by NWRA president Wade Noble."

Breninger resides in Roseville with his wife, Linda.
